Syria's War: a journal of pain

photographs by: Narciso Contreras

Pulitzer prize-winner Narciso Contreras takes us into the guts of the Syrian conflict; the pain, the destruction and the death are all present in his work, as is the bitter fight between rebel opposition fighters and Assad's armed forces. Working in rebel controlled territory Contreras travels the front lines of Aleppo and surrounding provinces bearing witness to the tragedy of war.

Biography: Narciso Contreras

As a photojournalist for the past 20 years, Yuri Kozyrev has covered every major conflict in the former Narciso Contreras is a photographer born in Mexico City, fond of exploring each encounter to precisely capture its most poignant moments. His work focuses in feature stories, reportage and documentary based on religious communities, human nature and conflicts, the later being his main focus for the past years.
