

August 2010 - Cattle camp of Bir-Diak of the Pakam clan of the Dinka tribe, Rumbek North country, Lakes State.

August 2010 - Cattle camp of Bir-Diak of the Pakam clan of the Dinka tribe, Rumbek North country, Lakes State.

August 2010 - Bir-Diak cattle camp of the Pakam clan from the Dinka tribe, Rumbek North County in the Lakes State.

August 2010 - Cattle camp of Bir-Diak of the Pakam clan of the Dinka tribe, Rumbek North country, Lakes State. Cow dung is being burned to avoid insect bites to men and livestock.

July 2010 - The maternity hospital in Pibor, supported by MSF (Doctors without Borders) in Jonglei State. Maternal mortality in South Sudan is one of the world's highest.

August 2010 - Bir-Diak cattle camp of the Pakam clan from the Dinka tribe, Rumbek North County in the Lakes State, South Sudan. During the war the cattle keepers were forced to carry weapons and ammunition for the Sudan People's Liberation Army (SPLA). Since the peace agreement of 2005, it has been easy to obtain weapons left over from Sudan's civil war.

February 2012 - Refugee camp of Yida, a few kilometers from the border, Unity State, South Sudan.

